Philadelphia Finances.

A new loan is proposed for Philadelphia. The Pennsylvanian says:—"The finance committee is understood to be actively at work preparing a new financial budget to be presented to Councils early in September, with a view to provide the funds necessary to meet the demands upon the city treanecessary sury during the balance of the year, and also the principal of the city debt falling due in January, 1860. It is now evident that a permanent loan of no inconsiderable amount will have to be negotiaand It is conceded that the city will require not less than $250,000 over the current receipts to meet her ordinary expenditures, besides which a million and a quarter will be needed to pay the city debt falling due in January. In addition to this, a school loan of $100,000 cannot well be avoided; lean of $50,000 to pay road damages will be pressed, as will also a loan of $400,000 for the construction of the Chestnut street bridge, which last will have the support of the powerful corporation now so largely interested in crossing the Schuylkill .-These will make together over two millions.

Funeral of Yeh.

We omitted to mention, in the summary of Canton news, last mail, that Yeh's body arrived there on May 14, creating little or no sensation. The next morning a roomy long boat was sent for the case in which the coffin was secured, and 24 hours afterwards the boat was seen a little below the Cumfa Mew, on the Honam shore, with no other emblem of her burden than a white flag. I was supposed that the body would be carried to the cemetery near the Northeast Gate. The Friend of China, in alluding to this subject, says: "Yeh was only 53 years of age, and by the course of nature, should have seen many more days. But for the desire which he expressed—to see his native land again-we might almost be disposed to think that he took that which shortened the thread of life. Alas, poor Yeh! he had such an extraordinary method of dealing with the truth that even the expression of his pining may have been, as all his life was-a huge lie. Linguists and boat people in Canton appeared glad on hearing he was no more. There will be no ceremony over his removal,' said one of the former class; 'the Emperor has taken away all his titles-he is no more than the commonest coolie of the streets.' So much for Yeh! Seven hundred dollars, freight money from Calcutta to Canten, was a good deal to pay for such a mys of the lady visitors there: "They paint this season; it is all the rage. Not the old, the faded, those whose beauty is on the wane, but the youg also; not rouge laid on with delicate fingers, and with tints hadly discernable to the eye, but laid on with a heavy hand, and openness worthy a better cause. In the night the complexion really is dazzling, and the face wears a hue almost angelie in brilliancy. But in the morning, bah! the face looks boiled, and resembles a white enamelled side of leather, cracked by the cold weather."

BALTIMORE AND POTOMAC RAIL ROAD. -A letter from the general Agent of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company informs us that a meeting of the Directors was held at Port Tobacco, on the 17th instantpresent, Messrs. Sellman (President.) Robinson, of Va., W. W. Bowie, Plowden, Mitchell and Jenkins. Col. Wm. D. Bowie was detained at home by sickness in his family-otherwise the board whould have been full. Mr. Mason, the assistant of Major Trimble, (the Engineer of the road now absent in Cuba) made a statement of his proceedings in locating the road. A resolution was passed, authorizing the prosecution of the location to Smith's Point, opposite Aquia Creek. This location, of the Southern terminus, the agent remarks, meets with the entire approbation of the friends of the road, particularly in Virginia -- and the circumstance of its being now fixed will, it is thought, secure very efficient aid from that quarter. There was quite a large meeting of the friends of the enterprise in Port Tobacco, after the meeting of the Directors, at which Gen. Mitchell presided, and Messrs. Sellman and Bowie delivered addresses, in which they detailed the proceedings of the Directors and the progress and prospects of the road .- Planter's Adv.

Within a few days past, we have seen several vehicles manufactured in Richmond, that equal in style anything made North, and are, perhaps, more durable; and our manufacturers assure us that they emplay similar workmen to those of the North, use better materials, and take more pains in constructing vehicles, and are, therefore, from Windsor, N. S. prepared to compete with the trade anywhere. And why should they not? The answer is easily given. Many Southern men think that nothing can be done at home-that Virginia timber is prettier and stronger when worked up at the North-and that neither springs, nor wheels, nor bodies, are fit for ervice unless they have passed through Northern hands. In every department of mechanism, Virginia mechanics are equal to those of any other section; and if the South could be induced to encourage home industry and ome enterprise, the time would come when Virginia mechanics would stand as high as any others in the world. It is intended that it shall reach the highest of ese standards, but some allowance is desired to be made, to meet any possible by accident may be made. The Excelsior No. 1 I believe equal to the best Peruvian Guano on any crop to which that article is applied, and will surpass it as improvement to land. The Agricultural public have been much imposed upon by all sorts of professed fertilizers, but I have no hesitation in saying, that I believe this compound will be found the "Ne Plus Ultra" of anything of the kind which has yet been produced; and with this confidence in its value, I have agreed to introduce SAMUEL SANDS, formerly Editor of the American Farmer.
